I had the pleasure of being the project sponsor for Abby and her term for the UNH Boot Camp course final project. Abby took on the role of team leader and led the group to do an outstanding job on a tricky project, with a very short time-frame, and under difficult circumstances.

In addition to leading the team, Abby designed and was the lead engineer on the critical UI and graphing elements (using React.js). She also developed much of the server-side services and routes (with Node.js).

Abby's team was a pleasure to work with and exceeded my expectations. My organization, the Appleseed Initiative, is proud to display the result of their project - which offers a unique perspective on a critical topic.

You can see the results of the Grid Visualizer the team produced at:

Abby was a pleasure to have in class. She works hard, is motivated to learn and grow. Abby did well to embrace new challenges and then to overcome them. She did very well during group projects being an integral team player who helped to lead her team to success and timely project goals. She would be a fantastic addition to any team!
